KEYPORT

HIGH SCHOOL

Keyport, New Jersey

FOREWORD

For your pleasure and enjoyment the senior class presents the 1959 KEY. We have tried to highlight a variety of moments to bring you joyous memories in future years. We, the Staff of the Key, have chosen the Roaring 20's as our theme as it best signifies the happy, carefree mood of the seniors of '59.

We wish to express our sincere appreciation to the Keyport High School Staff for helping to make this book and this wonderful year possible.

Alma Mater

Keyport High, our Alma Mater,
To Thee we give our loyalty;
Ever bound in true devotion,
We will always faithful be.

As years roll by, our love will grow;
We'll honor and respect thy name—
Strive to bring Thee, Alma Mater,
Worthy credit and great fame.

So for this school to which we're bound
By many a strong and loving tie,
We sing our songs of admiration—
Alma Mater, Keyport High.

Class History

FRESHMAN YEAR

In September 1955 a gay group of freshmen, not being a bit shy, came roaring into Keyport High School ready to get into the swing.

It didn't take us long to become a real part of the school clubs and follies. Football, basketball, band, twirlers and cheerleaders were only a few of the school activities in which we became interested. Robert Sullivan got us off to a good start by being chosen our representative to the Student Council. We were determined to make our class outstanding in social and academic functions during our four years at Keyport High School.

SOPHOMORE YEAR

Returning the following year as sophomores, we began to take part in many more of the extra-curricular activities. With many of our boys on the football team, we finally accomplished our goal—we beat Matawan! This was the year that we were undefeated and won the Shore Conference Championship in Group B.

Sophomore representatives were added to the Student Council. Two sophomore members, Harriet Wolfe and Judy Brown, were elected to the National Honor Society.

JUNIOR YEAR

This year we were nearing the peak of our high school career. We formally organized our class and elected officers. For President we chose John MacLean; Vice President, Harriet Wolfe; Secretary, Clementine Montagna; and Treasurer, Mary Luccarelli. These officers were ably assisted by our class advisers, Miss Reilly and Mr. Fiedler.

Candy was busily being sold by all the Juniors to help pay for all Washington Trip expenses and class dues.

Our two dances, "Star Dust" and "Mardi Gras," and the arrival of our class rings were the highlights of our junior year. Fifteen more juniors were elected to the National Honor Society and were introduced at the Spring Concert.

SENIOR YEAR

At last! Seniors! We were off on the most exciting year of our high school career. The school was operating under a "staggered session" with the seniors "staggering in" at about 7:30 a.m. We showed our enthusiasm and leadership by heading many committees in school.

Our class advisers, Mr. Fiedler and Miss Reilly, again aided us in the organization of our class. Our officers were Robert Sullivan, President; Jay Phillips, Vice President; Carol Ullmeyer, Secretary; and Mary Luccarelli, Treasurer. These executives represented a class of 162 seniors.

Many exciting events took place this year. We started with our two dances, "Corn Cob Rock" and "Silver Wonderland." In January the student body selected Vernon Stultz and Carol Ullmayer as Campus King and Queen. They were crowned at the annual Open House ceremony on April 10, which was held for our family and friends.

Then came our senior trip to Washington on March 11, 12, and 13. The Hotel Raleigh, the Capitol Building, Mount Vernon, and all our enjoyable times there will hold a special place in our memories. Next came the Spring Concert which was a success as always. We all eagerly anticipated the final social event of our four years at Keyport High School —the Junior-Senior Dinner Dance. It was an eventful evening with fun and excitement for all.

Then came graduation! Receiving our diplomas made us feel both proud and sad. The gay whirl of the last few weeks had come to an end and as we sang our Alma Mater for the last time, we realized how much our four years at Keyport High School had really meant to us.

Class Prophecy

We, the senior class, look twenty years into the future and observe an anonymous member of the class of '59, Mrs. Flapper, involved in the events of a very busy day.

In Honor of their 15th anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. Flapper were busily rushing from place to place planning a "night on the town." Roaring down the street, Mrs. Flapper screeched to a stop before a beauty shop operated by KATHY SHANAHAN and SYLVIA CALANDRA. As Mrs. Flapper walked in, she saw them giving VIRGINIA DePALMA a manicure, and bleaching MICKEY McKEEN'S hair, while she was talking to JOYCE D'ANGELO under the dryer. MARIETTA HOFSESS, beauty assistant, was giving JUDY EVERISS a "Toni" on her eyelashes. The girls were all discussing JUDY FITZGERALD'S finishing school in which NEAL WARWICK taught the art of flirting and WILLIAM GAFFNEY, the art of conversation.

Meanwhile Mr. Flapper went to BEN OCHINEGRO'S sports equipment firm to purchase some sporting goods for the town's Little League, coached by JOAN BUTLER. As he entered the factory, he was assisted by receptionist, SHIRLEY CHAMBERLAIN, who summoned BETTY HUYLAR of the sales department to take the order. He was pleasantly surprised to find three of his fellow graduates, BEVERLY O'CONNELL, MARIA ORLANDO, and RUTH SUTTER, employed as secretaries.

Mr. Flapper, laden with packages, was leaving the sports firm when LORRAINE GILSON and MARY ANN SOMMERS, rushing back from their coffee break, bumped into him and sent him sprawling on the steps. Hurrying to his aid came BOB WEBB, postman, who led him to the firm's head nurses, NATALIE HUGHSON and KATHY JENSEN. His minor cuts and bruises being cared for, he drove to pick up his wife, who had been waiting at the beauty parlor.

They then went home to dress for dinner and hired JEANNE KLOPMAN, professional baby-sitter. Arriving at BILL FOLSCHER and RITA SIANO'S fashionable restaurant, the Flappers were told by CARMEN PERNO, host, that a party was being held there in honor of New York Giants' star, JOE SCALONE. After checking their coats with hat-check girl, PAT WARNOCK, they were led to their tables. As Mr. Flapper bought cigarettes from cigarette-girl, DONNA WEEKS, HARRIET PERLMUTTER, waitress, came to take their orders. During dinner their pictures were taken by camera-girl, MARY HANSON, and they were entertained by VIRGINIA SKEETER, mistress of ceremonies, and JIMMY CARTER, popular singing star. The Flappers were surprised to find their old friends BILL HOOLEY, hardware store manager, WALTER HECK, insurance salesman, JAY PHILLIPS, mattress tester, and JOHN O'NEILL, lecturer, at the next table.

Mr. and Mrs. Flapper left the restaurant and hailed a cab from JOE NUNZIATO'S taxi company, which raced them to BRUCE STENECK and CAROL HYER'S theatre.

RAY VACCARELLI, doorman, helped them out of the cab. Usherettes, DIANE GORMAN and BARBARA SCHAIBLE, directed them to their seats. Seated next to them were DOROTHEA JACOBY, a W.A.F. lieutenant, MIKE ALLOCCO, pepper farmer, and FRED BOLTE, director of the Bronx Zoo Aquarium. A roll of the drums by JOHN MacLEAN, cued in by JIM AMMATURO, director, started the show. FRED SCHEIN was M.C. The show began with BARBARA LEWANDOWSKI singing NORMA LAURSEN'S latest ballad. As the show progressed, ERNIE BADE, BILL MORDECAI, and MADELINE DUNNING were seen in starring roles. EILEEN HURLEY, BETSY JACKSON, RUTH ORLANDO, CHARLOTTE STUHL, ARLENE TERRY, and ANN HUTTENLOCK were seen as chorus girls.

During the intermission the Flappers met VERNON STULTZ, oil tycoon; CLEM MONTAGNA, fashion designer; JOYCE MEISLER, president of ATCO; JO-ANN DALLENBACH, vice-president of W. T. Grant Co.; and PAT O'NEILL, eye-glass manufacturer, discussing the new pamphlet put out by HARRIET WOLFE, psychologist, and RONNIE ROMANAWICH, president of the National Hot Rod Club, on whether or not teen-agers should be allowed to own their own cars. Advertised in the playbill, was GEORGE MANDERVILLE, human computor, who was the next week's attraction at the theatre.

The Flappers bought refreshments from TOM MAROTTA and RICHARD GRONWALD and returned to their seats.

The curtain rose, and on with the show! Comedian FRANK BELLARAN tried to cheer BOB SULLIVAN playing the hen-pecked husband. KAREN LORAH and LOUISE MILLS did a skating act. CHRIS MARTIN, body guard, defended Superman, BOBBY LaROCCA, from BOB HALE'S practical jokes. The finale saw JUDY BROWN, BOB MULLANY, ROBERTA FIPPS and JAMES OLSON performing the Charleston.

From the program the Flappers discovered the technical staff included CAROL ULLMEYER, correographer, RICHARD GOEKEN, lighting; BONNIE SHRUM and DORIS ACKERMAN, costumes; PAT MacGEORGE and ELAINE PREZIOSO, hair stylists. They left RANDY NEILSON, head janitor and his staff to clean up.

Outside the theatre the Flappers saw JOE WARD, playboy, with DIANE SLOVENZ, movie queen. JIM ATKINS was busy snapping pictures while DON McINTOSH wrote the story for AUDREY DARLAND, editor of the Times.

Arriving at Kozy's, after the show, the Flappers were welcomed by their old friends, JUNE LAVICH, manager, and SUE CAROLI, hostess. Pizzas, made by BOB CHROMY, were served by VIOLET YOUNG and RITA EASTMOND. VINCENT BRANCIFORTE and GEORGE RYE, waiters, brought cokes.

A few tables away sat CAROLYN MULLER, MARY LUCCARELLI, and MARIE TOOKER, secretaries; FRANK HYLAND, JOHN HETTRICK, and RONALD WILSON, historians; TOM LEONARD, JIM JANNARONE, and ED BICKHAM, gym instructors. SAL BARONE, RALPH POLING, ROMA LEWIS, and RICHARD KRIEGER, combo artists struck up the hit song. KATHY WALSHE, BETTEANN FORKEL, JOHN ENDERLEIN, RUTH ANN EMMONS, WARREN CARNES, and GENE FLEMING immediately jumped up to dance. Deciding to leave, the Flappers paid LORRAINE REGAN and summoned a taxi driver, BETTE ANN FOLSCHER. The taxi had a break down and ROZ POLAND, telephone operator, helped arouse GEORGE BRYNE, mechanic and his helper CHARLES KOLODZIEJ. Upon learning it would be quite a while until the mechanic came, they walked to the bus station. On the way they met LINDA SMITH, BETTY WALLING, BOB HYER, and JOHN ENGLISH, bowlers. The bus, driven by PAUL MONTESANO, came along. Seated on the bus were JIM LACOUNT, sweater supplier, GARY SPANIAK, sales manager of Family Circle, BARBARA DIRNER, jewelry buyer for Newberry's; MARGUERITE NAPPI, fashion model; ELAINE PENROSE, manager of Slenderella; WAYNE PERRY, star of Ipana ads; CAROL PROVINA, commercial artist; LINDA EMMONS, stenographer; JOHN and NEIL BAHRENBERG, Air Force lieutenants; BILL GAFFNEY, Coast Guard captain; and WEBSTER JONES, sergeant in the Army.

As the Flappers leave the bus STEVE ROTHENBERG'S chemical firm explodes. As firemen RONALD BROWN, CHARLES ALLOCCO, and JOHN KOLODZIEJ arrive the Flappers met KENNETH WARREN, police chief, and officers DAVID PRINZ and DOT SHUTSKY who had rescued CAROLINE WALLING and RUTH WIEDEMAN, lab assistants. BARBARA BUKSAR and NANCY DRAKE, receptionists, bumped into CATHY DeMARCO, cashier of the VINCENT TAYLOR-BEN JACKSON basketball stadium as they rushed to the fire. Army majors, BOB BEATTY and JAMES RUSH helped injured DOLORES MANNING and CHARLES WICKHAM. MADELINE RYE and TONYA WHEELOCK aided BETTY MASON, Red Cross director, serve coffee and donuts. WILLIAM SHEA, salesman, noticed the fire was diminishing, saving JOHN WALSH'S accounting firm from destruction.

The Flappers, tired and weary, turned homeward as the night came to an end.

WASHINGTON TRIP

Early Wednesday morning, March 11, three touring buses were hurriedly filled with ninety-six excited seniors and seven vigilant chaperones, who were Frank Woods, head chaperone; Miss Ethel Reilly and Wilbur Fiedler, class advisers; and Mrs. Vera Carlson, Charles DiFazio, Thomas Guinane and Mrs. Kathryn Nolan.

Happily bound for our nation's capital, our first thrill of the day occurred when the third bus, soon nicknamed the "Red Raft", dropped behind the other two for repairs while its passengers had their breakfast break at the nearby Howard Johnson Restaurant. "On to Washington!" was the cry as the bus come to a halt atop the Delaware Memorial Bridge. Upon rejoining the others in Delaware, those aboard the "Red Raft" rode with the first two buses for the rest of the trip to Washington.

Everyone ate heartily at Scholl's Cafeteria, upon arrival, and it was there we ate throughout most of the trip. A cheer went up as the seniors welcomed back the third bus and all could enjoy a comfortable tour of the capital.

Our first visits were to see the Supreme Court Building and the Capitol. Afterwards, as we were all watching the "birdie", the traditional senior picture was taken on the Mall. As a fine mist began to fall, we went scurrying towards the awaiting buses and headed for a brief hour's rest at the Hotel Raleigh and to become settled in our rooms. We were served dinner in the colonial atmosphere of the Old Club in Alexandria, Virginia; we passed the Pentagon and many of the buildings we were to visit during our stay en route. Entertainment supplied for the evening was a choice of either Cinerama, South Sea Holiday or Up Periscope and the Hanging Tree.

The shrill ring of the telephone and that cheery "Rise and Shine" at six in the morning will long be remembered. First on our list for today was the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. (Have you ever cleaned your eyeglasses with a twenty dollar bill?) With a large charge about half of us started the climb to the top of the 555-foot tall Washington Monument, while the others had the pleasure (?) of walking down. There was a lovely view of the surrounding city between the snow flurries! (We wonder if the tune of "Old MacDonald" will forever echo in the stair well?)

At the FBI Building, we quickly learned that "crime does not pay!" We saw displays of famous crimes, an example of their expert marksmanship with various guns, and a look at a laboratory in action.

With a wish for color film, we viewed the beautiful flowers of the Botanical Gardens and "back in the jungle" we heard the cameras clicking again.

As the afternoon drew near, we saw the impressive statue of the Iwo Jima flag raising and when we visited the Arlington National Cemetery, we were just in time to see the changing of the guard at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. Next, at the George Washington estate in Mt. Vernon, Virginia, we took a brisk walk to view the home and its surrounding buildings on the bank of the Potomac River.

After dinner at the Old Club, we saw the awe inspiring Lincoln Memorial and the historical Library of Congress.

At the Washington Airport, with the wind blowing for all its might, a few of us went outside to see planes landing and taking off.

After breakfast at the hotel, our last day was spent by visiting the Jefferson Memorial, Smithsonian Institute, National Gallery of Art and National Archives in the morning. Then we packed for the trip home after a good lunch at Scholl's. "Goodbye Washington!"

Homeward bound—we stopped at the Naval Academy in Annapolis, Maryland, and there saw the tomb of John Paul Jones. Dinner was enjoyed at Howard Johnson's.

At the end of the long ride home, ninety-six tired seniors and our seven tireless chaperones made their way safely home.
